

Company Overview

Superior outcomes, bottom line results

Disease management and claims resolution are typically treated as separate functions. Claims are often paid without knowing whether the bills reflect the actual care that was approved and provided. Disease management programs are designed to achieve improved clinical outcomes, but continue to struggle to document genuine savings. The two functions are seldom integrated for maximum savings. Lost opportunities, wasted resources.

The Assist Group has leveraged technology and industry experts to develop the next generation of claims management solutions that take a complete 360-degree view of the claim – clinical and financial. Founded in 1999, we are the leader in integrated claims resolution and disease management solutions. Since the very beginning, our goal has always been the same: To maximize clinical outcomes while delivering the highest return on investment.
